

Only In Dreams

kiss me once before you go, my love tell me now just what you're dreaming of

I love to watch you running all alone there on the shore you have opened up my heart just like the wind's blown wide my door 'til it seems

this could only happen in dreams

you left your comb love, on my windowsill I linger here inside your touch until that silver-winged flight of love has carried me along and I have found the words the beauty of you in this song moonbeam

when I was lost and lonely you took and made me whole you held me in your arms, my love and kept me from the cold now a song comes on the radio we've sung both you and I when all I had to give you was a lover's endless sigh take my hand, step out into the street let your love shine out on every one you meet see that little girl there in the doorway with those eyes she's in love like we are now can't help but wonder why it seems
